Seeds and Bulbs

For Autumn Planting

JULY 1, 1922

THIS Price-List covers the various varieties of bulbs and seeds which are usually needed at this time. Our contracts for bulbs are placed with the best growers in Europe in advance of the time when these bulbs are needed. By this method we can assure our customers of the very highest quality of stock. We are not mere import dealers, placing orders with exporters in Holland, France, and Japan for the various varieties of bulbs as we receive them. Our growers realize that we keep an accurate check on their stocks, and that they must furnish us stocks of their own careful growing.

At the time this Price-List is going to press, prices have not been finally fixed in France and Japan. We are, therefore, soliciting your order, on a basis of market prices, on such bulbs as are so specified in our offering.

Soliciting your patronage, we remain,

Respectfully,

STUMPP & WALTER CO.

S. & W. Co.'s Improved Purity

Through painstaking effort, our grower of Freesia Purity has maintained such a quality in our strain of this very desirable cut-flower, by careful selection, as to justify us in offering it as an improved strain, as compared to many of the strains indiscriminately grown and offered today.

Bulbous Irises

Since Federal Quarantine No. 37 went into effect, in June, 1919, there have been no bulbs of Spanish, Dutch, or Tingitana sent to this country from France or Holland, except for propagating purposes. We are happy to say, however, that we can now offer American-grown Irises for the first time this year, and while the prices are somewhat higher than those ruling on European stock, we feel sure our patrons will find them profitable growing, owing to the scarcity.

Price, any of the following varieties, 60 cts. per doz.,
$4 per 100, $35 per 1,000

- Anton Mauve. Uniform soft blue.

Iris tingitana

A cross between the Spanish and Dutch Iris, and without a doubt one of the finest for forcing. While the most experienced growers frequently only get 60 to 70 per cent of these bulbs to force satisfactorily, they are much in demand for early flowers. $1 per doz., $8 per 100, $70 per 1,000.

Calla Lilies

We offer two varieties of Calla Lilies, the white and the yellow. Those who have not grown the yellow variety, should try a few this year. They make splendid pot plants, and are excellent for cutting also. White Callas are ready in September; yellow are later maturing and arrive in November.

Lilium formosum (Black-stemmed Type)

This Lily gave unusually good satisfaction this past year, and we are influenced to believe that it was largely due to its being dug later than usual, and better ripened. While there is a great scarcity of cold-storage bulbs of Giganteum for fall delivery, we believe that it will pay the florist to wait on Formosum for his early Lilies this year.

At the time this catalogue goes to press, the bulbs have not as yet been dug, and prices have not been definitely made. We are offering them at market prices. We expect to receive these bulbs during the latter part of September or early October.
